

MRS. DE LA MAR MARRIES AGAIN

This Time Beautiful Nellie Sands, After Five Years of Single Life, Becomes Wife of James R. Hatmaker.

WAS PRIVATE SECRETARY TO CORNELIUS VANDERBILT.

Wedding in Paris Recalls a Famous Romance and Divorce—The Present Nuptials Are the Result of Love Alone.

The wedding of James R. Hatmaker, for many years private secretary to the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, to Mrs. Nellie Sands De la Mar, news of which was spread from Paris, has caused untold gossip in the upper circles of society here, where both principals are well known.

Mrs. De la Mar has for several years been the acknowledged beauty of the American colony in Paris, and rumors of her engagement to men of title, wealth and social prominence have been numerous since her divorce from aged Capt. De la Mar.

Her life has been full of romance and its incidents would furnish the material for a lengthy novel, and like the romances of fiction, a happy chapter seems to mark the end of her career as Mrs. De la Mar.

Founded on Love Alone.

Her marriage with Mr. Hatmaker is believed to be the culmination of an attachment that is founded on love alone, for he is not known to be wealthy, that is, as wealth is reckoned in these days of multi-millionaires. He was, as said, for years the secretary of Cornelius Vanderbilt, and is supposed to be one of the best posted men in the world on railroad matters. He was left $10,000 in his former employer's will. For the last four years he has resided in London.

Mrs. De la Mar was originally Nellie Virginia Sands. With her mother, the widow of a well-to-do druggist, she was summering at Narragansett Pier in 1882, when she met Capt. De la Mar. She was eighteen—little more than a child—and he was fifty.

Capt. De la Mar had been the favored football of fortune. He was a French father and a Dutch mother, he had early taken to the sea. He drifted to Chicago and then to the West, where he located a mine which he finally acquired full control of and which is estimated to have made him a fortune of $25,000,000.

Promises of Luxury.

He was captivated by the beauty of Nellie Sands and won her heart. It is said, by the promises of wealth and luxury he made her. They were married May, 1888.

Both desired social position, and the captain purchased a magnificent home on Madison avenue. Society was cold, however, and they moved to Paris. Here Mrs. De la Mar's beauty swept the field, and abroad she was taken up and made a pet of by the most exclusive circles of the French capital.

Capt. De la Mar was intensely jealous, and when he was recalled from the Orient, where they were spending the winter, on business, he chanced upon a packet of letters in his wife's desk. He secured possession of their child, and then secured a decree of divorce.

That Mrs. De la Mar was a woman of settlement on his wife and arranged to provide handsomely for her whether she married again or not.

Since then Mrs. De la Mar's engagement to various men prominent in society has been rumored at intervals, and it was not until she had proved a complete surprise. She is possessed of wonderful beauty, having a slight, superbly moulded figure, a fair hair and deep brown eyes. She has been painted by the most prominent portrait artists of Europe.

SON'S TALK MAY REVEAL MURDER

His Chance Remark at Mother's Funeral May Develop the Fact that She Shot Her Husband to Death.

The chance remark of her ten-year-old son during the funeral services over the body of Mrs. John Englebrecht, at Paterson, N. J., led to an investigation which seems to indicate the woman had killed her husband and that remorse had driven her to commit suicide.

John Englebrecht was found dead in bed with a bullet hole in his head five weeks ago. It was given out that he had committed suicide. Mrs. Englebrecht was found dead on his grave in Laurel Grove cemetery, Monday. She had swallowed carbolic acid.

John, the ten-year-old son, remarked during the funeral services over his mother's body that she had often threatened to kill his father. An investigation was made, and it was learned that the dead woman had informed a neighbor after the death of her husband that she had "committed a deed of which no one knew," and which no one ever would know.

John's remark was made at the funeral of his father, and it was then that the investigation was started. John was found to be a very bright child, and it was then that the investigation was started.

MAN AND GIRL TRIED TO KICK OFF SHOT BY GANG POLICEMAN'S HAT

Young Ruffians, Accompanied by Women, Were Celebrating the Election When They Got Into Row with Militiamen.

The notorious Bedford gang in Brooklyn, that came into prominence at the time when Florence Burns was arrested, was again in evidence because of a shooting affair on Election night. William Bryce Cawley, of No. 1211 Dean street, was shot in the arm and a young woman who was in the company of the gang was badly wounded in the exchange of bullets.

Mr. Cawley, who is a son of S. J. Cawley, a millionaire manufacturer of umbrellas, was on his way home from the theatre when he happened to run into the gang. There was shooting going on and he was hit by a stray bullet. He saw one of the women sink to the ground and attempted to go to her aid, but was hurried away by three members of the gang. Residents of an apartment-house in the neighborhood of the row also saw the woman shot. Nothing is known of her identity.

Were Celebrating the Election.

The members of the Bedford gang were celebrating the result of the election. There were eight in the party and they had with them seven young women. The celebration was being held in a saloon in Bedford avenue, near Hancock street.

Everybody in the party became incensed, and so much noise was made that the proprietor of the saloon forced them to leave. They stood at Hancock street and Bedford avenue singing ribald songs and acting generally in a disgraceful manner until the whole neighborhood was aroused. There were no policemen in sight.

Five members of the Twenty-third Regiment, on the way to their homes from the armory and wearing their dress uniforms, passed the gang and were insulted. They proceeded to put up a fist fight, when the Bedford gang members drew revolvers and began to shoot.

Many Shots Fired.

Cawley was seized by members of the gang and rushed for three blocks in the direction of his home. He did not say anything, but he was known. The last seen of her she was being half led, half carried down Bedford avenue. No policeman appeared after the shooting, no report of it was made to the station-house and no effort appears to have been made to locate the woman who was removed from his arm at daylight.

What became of the young woman who was shot is not known. The last seen of her she was being half led, half carried down Bedford avenue. No policeman appeared after the shooting, no report of it was made to the station-house and no effort appears to have been made to locate the woman who was removed from his arm at daylight.

Philip Allen Dies in Street

Well Known Clubman, Stricken with Heart Disease, Drops Dead on Lexington Avenue While on His Way Home.

Club members to-day were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Philip Allen, secretary of the Central Union Gas Company, in the Bronx, and a large stockholder in the Consolidated Gas Company. He dropped dead from heart disease last night while on his way to his apartments, in the old Jockey Club building, at Twenty-seventh street and Madison avenue. He fell at the corner of Twenty-seventh street and Madison avenue. He was dead before those who saw him fall could reach his side.

Allen was born in England and was never married. He was a member of the Union, Knickerbocker and Tuxedo clubs.

RABBI ESCAPES FROM HOSPITAL

Rev. William A. Sparger, Cantor of Temple Emanu-El, Mysteriously Disappears from Institution in Philadelphia.

WIFE PROSTRATED AND FEARS FOR HIS SAFETY.

Patient Was Convalescing, After Having Attempted Suicide by Cutting His Throat and Taking Poison—Eludes Detectives.

The Rev. William A. Sparger, of No. 73 East Ninetieth street, cantor of Temple Emanu-El, has escaped from the Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia, where he was convalescing after cutting his throat and taking poison in an attempt to kill himself, and the news has prostrated his wife.

The Philadelphia Hospital authorities called up Mrs. Sparger on the long-distance telephone early to-day and asked her if her husband had returned home. She said he had not, and the man on the other end of the wire told her of the escape.

Dr. Sparger disappeared from his home in this city some time ago while suffering from a period of intense melancholia, and a week later was found in Washington. The Rabbis' Association of America sent two Pinkerton men to Washington for him, and at Philadelphia they stopped off for a rest.

While at dinner at the Hotel Walton, Dr. Sparger excused himself to go to his room and in a few minutes he was found in a toilet room where he had swallowed a quantity of poison and had cut his throat.

Blindes Detectives.

He was sent to the Jefferson Hospital, where he has improved so rapidly that his friends were notified a few days ago that he could be moved. Without consulting the family, the Rabbis' Association again employed detectives to bring Dr. Sparger to his home.

The two detectives called at the hospital in Philadelphia early yesterday morning, but they were informed that as Dr. Sparger was not a prisoner the hospital authorities could not turn the patient over to any one, but must release him to leave the hospital of his own free will. Therefore, the detectives stationed themselves outside of the building and waited for Dr. Sparger to appear.

At noon Dr. Sparger was discharged from the hospital office and that was the last seen of him. He did not leave by the two front doors, and it is believed that he went out through the basement door and down through an alley.

News Prostrates Wife.

The detectives became tired of waiting about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and when they inquired in the office they were told that Dr. Sparger had been gone three hours.

During the last week Dr. Sparger had returned to that melancholy condition in which he was when he attempted to kill himself. For that reason grave fears are felt for his safety.

When an Evening World reporter called at the Sparger home to-day Miss Helen Sparger said that her mother had been prostrated by the news of her husband's disappearance, and could not be seen.

"We sent no one after him," said Miss Sparger, "but it is likely that the Rabbis' Association did. We believe that father is now trying to walk to New York. He was without money and had nothing on which he could realize anything."

"He probably knew that the detectives were waiting for him, and he did not wish to appear as though returning in the custody of any one. We hope that he will appear during the day."

POINTS TO YOU.

How Coffee Sets It Grip and Is Never Suspected.

It is surprising how many people never suspect that coffee is causing all their trouble until they are finally knocked out or some disease caused by coffee has become chronic and almost incurable.

Even in chronic cases the chances are a shift from coffee to Postum Food Coffee will build the sick one up and in time effect a cure.

Sometimes this happens with surprising promptness. A lady of Syracuse, Neb., says: "Last spring a year ago my doctor told me I would have to stop drinking coffee. I had heart trouble so bad that the least excitement would cause me to choke up so I could scarcely get my breath, and I was so nervous I could not bear to have the children move around the house."

"Doctor told my husband to get Postum for me, but before he did so we moved to the country and I fell back on milk and water, but even such exertion as climbing a flight of stairs caused my heart to hurt me so I would feel sick and I have ever been in the fall we again moved to Syracuse. There I got some Postum and began to feel so much better after using one package that I continued its use altogether, and I am now better in health than I have ever been before in eight years. I am stronger and fresher than I ever was and have not had the headache but three times since I began to use Postum a year ago. The change certainly seems wonderful, for I have had no return of the heart trouble at all, and I never get tired telling what Postum has done for me." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

—they tell us in silence that our kidneys need doctoring. If neglected now, the disease advances until the face looks pale or sallow, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, feet swell, and sometimes the heart acts badly.

There is comfort in knowing that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, fulfills every wish in quickly relieving such troubles. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate.

SWAMP-ROOT A BLESSING TO WOMEN.

There comes a time to both men and women when sickness and poor health bring anxiety and trouble hard to bear; disappointment seems to follow every effort of physicians in our behalf, and remedies we try have little or no effect. In many such cases serious mistakes are made in doctoring, and not knowing what the disease is or what makes us sick. Kind nature warns us by certain symptoms which are unmistakable evidence of danger, such as too frequent desire to urinate, scanty supply, scalding irritation, pain or dull ache in the back
